While the most popular of all Blue Macaws is the Hyacinth Macaw, there are three more species of blue macaws, namely the Spix Macaw, the Glaucous Macaw and the Lears Macaw. They are known for their majestic plumes and their extremely high intelligence that makes them the perfect pet. Macaws make great pets without a doubt. However, these birds tend to be noisy and may be difficult for first time bird owners. The sheer size of the birds can make behavior issues like nipping quite dangerous. If you are planning to bring home a macaw, there are several considerations that you need to make before committing to the bird. This includes the expenses involved, the care, the possible behavioral issues and even health issues. This book will help you learn in detail about all the species of blue macaws. It is a guide for new bird owners and those with some experience to provide the right care for their pet birds.
